TRY FREE TRADE IN RICE AND SUGAR. To the Edutor of the Trionne

Sir: I have been a reader of your paper for thirty five years. All I ask is an equal chance with every other American citizen. I want no more and object to taking anything less. I know the more manu factories we have the cheaper I get my manufactured articles and the more I get for my farm products. I feel confident of my ability to take as much free trade as the Southern planter or the Northern factory laborer, but I want an equal chance. Now let us take the average price of sugar and rice in the New-York market since the resumption of specie payment, or for a longer or shorter period, if it will suit our Southern brethren better, and see what per cent duties Premier" Mills has left on those commodities. give us the same per cent duties on all products from our Northern farms and manufactories. For instance, suppose rice is protected 100 per cent, and sugar 75 per cent. I want barley protected 87 1-2 per cent, and all Northern manufactured articles the same. When a duty is levied on any article or commodity that this country produces, it is a protective tariff. Now all I ask is to protect us all alike. If our professors of dead languages and our Southern brethren want free trade, levy duties on tea, coffee and spices heavy enough for the needs of Government. That would be free trade. I can bear it as long and as would be free trade. I can bear it as long and as well as they can. But I don't want a tiller of the soil in the South protected 100 per cent, and a cigar-maker 200 or 300 per cent, while I get no protection at all. This Government is supposed to protect its citizens alike, but there seems to be a difference becitizens alike, but there seems to be a difference between a Southerner in Mexico or a poor fisherman in Canada. If Maine and Massachusetts, were Democrat States it would make a difference. I hope a Republican Senate will treat us all alike. If the Senators will take sugar and rice as the standard they can give us a fair tariff bill in a short time. I want free sugar and rice if I have free wool.

ABOUT THOSE "WAR TAXES."

to the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The Democratic party uses the common-place battle cry of "War taxes," expecting to catch the votes of the word taxes, knowing that votes are eastly caught by the promise of reducing taxes. the Republican party bring this war on the country? No, the Democratic party did. And the Republican party, in order to raise armies and a navy for defending the Nation, had to create the National debt, to the payment of interest and principal of which taxes were levied. Now let us see how the Republican party stands to these so-called war taxes. From the close of the war, at which time the country was interest at the rate of 6 and 7 per cent was to be paid, the Republican party controlled the Governpaid, the Republican party controlled the first time it has him to talk, no one to urge him to make speeches abolished the following war taxes: Manufacturing Several persons came in from Cleveland and asked tax of 5 per cent, income tax, tax on watches, recetpts, checks, matches, patent medicines and many other articles, besides reducing the tariff all around about 5 per cent. In spite of these reductions it reduced our National debt to about half its size and raised the National credit so high that, instead of paying 6 and 7 per cent interest, the Government can

TIRED OF DEMOCRATIC PRETENCES To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: I have been a supporter of the Third party in New-Jersey. In principle I am a Democrat through and through, and I admire the Democratic wisdom of the Republican party in giving the people of New-Jersey an opportunity to say whether the liquor traffic shall stand or fall by their votes. The people should rule. The Republican party says that they shall have the chance. But the moral cowardice of the Democratic party is seen in the position which it takes. The people shall not rule The Democratic party says: and this party will not let them rule."

This attitude of the Democracy has led me to cast my influence with the Republican party at this time. hope that the Prohibitionists will see the wisdom of such a course. I shall support Harrison and Morton, men raised up of God to put to flight the armies of the Philistines who have risen up against American institutions and every reform in the interests of good government and the preservation of our civil and religious liberties. The Democratic party has usurped the rights of the people and the elevation of Clevelandism to power again will be a tremendous stride toward a reign of despotism in America. Yours respectfully, W. J. HENDERSON.

THE GREATEST GAMBLER OF THE AGE. Paris Letter in The Chicago Tribune.

Paris Letter in The Chicago Tribune.

A man has just died here whose life might well serve as a text for a thousand sermons. This was the Baron de Bastari. His life was entirely given up to gambling. He came from a good family in lititany, and when a young man was made sub-Prefect of Moriaix. This office he neglected altogether, and spent most of his time in Paris playing baccarat. This was at the time of Louis Napoleon's Italian campaign. When the treaty of Villafranca was signed and peace restored a telegraphic message announcing the fact was sent to him, and a package of official iposters proclaiming the news, which it was his duty to have distributed throughout the department. These were sent to his office at Moriaix, but the telegram was forwarded to him at Paris. It was handed gram was forwarded to him at Paris. It was handed hese were sent to his office at Morfaix, but the tele-ram was forwarded to him at Paris. It was handed to him at the baccarat table. He read it and went in with the game. He did not go to Morfaix for a nonth, and when he did go there he found the pack-ge of posters still lying unopened on his desk, and eside them a letter from the Minister of the Interior ismissing him from his office in disgrace. He im-ediately returned to Paris, and never again left this

From that time until his death this week he spent all his available time at the gambling-table. As surey as the hour of 4 struck every afternoon he re-paired to his favorite club. There he played without aired to his favorite club. There he prayed w break, save to eat a hasty meal, until at a break, save to eat a hasty meal, until about 6 o'clock next morning. I am told by officers of the cint that in all these years he was absent from his place only four days, or nights. Did he wim? No, ite always lost, and his losses were heavy. Indeed, he did not expect to win. His losses enriched the club and filled the pockets of many of its members. Those who knew him well say that his losses for thirty years averaged more than $100,000 a year. That would give a grand total, then, of more than $3,000,000. The like on was able to do this because he owned mining stocks which brought him a fixed income of about $150,000 a year.

GREAT DAY FOR ILLINOIS.

From The Chicago Inter-Ocean. From The Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A great Republican demonstration for all Central Hilmols is being arranged for Farmer City, in DeWitt County. The date has not been fixed yet, but the event will take place some time during the first week in September. It will be the occasion of a very large gatherins. The Hon. James G. Blaine, the great Republican leader, will make his first appearance in Illinois since his return to America at this demonstration, and it is predicted that the enthusiasm will be unsurpassed. Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, Illinois's greatest orator, and Senator Ingalia, of Kansas, the soldiers' friend, will also be present and address the thousands congregated. It will be one of the great events of Hilmols during the campaign, and will surpass anything ever witnessed in that section of the State. THE EVIDENCE ALL AGAINST HIM. MR. BRICE'S AGENT THINKS WORKINGMEN HAVE PROTECTION ON THE BRAIN.

An important contribution to the Literature of the campaign was made yesterday through the Ropublican National Committee. It is not only interesting as showing the present condition of the Democrati canvass in the Western States, but it also explains the sudden change of front made by the Administration managers in attempting to sink the tariff question out of sight instead of making it the great feature of the contest as originally intended. Shortly after his election to the chairmanship the Democratic National Executive Committee, Mr. Brice determined to find out for himself the exact state of public feeling on the tariff question among the people of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. With this end in view he sent James Dodge, of Brooklyn, a man who had been highly recommended to him for such work, out West to examine the political situation. Mr. Dodge was directed to go into the Western States and ascertain the drift of political sent ments and to deliver free-trade addresses in working communities, and to talk when he had opportunity with employes, and also to corsult with leading Democrats with reference to the campaign. The chief object Mr. Brice had in mind, was to have his agent ascertain whether it would be safe to conduct the campaign on the lines laid down by the President's message, or whether it would be necessary to hedge on the fariff.

Mr. Dodge has always enjoyed a reputation for being discreet and remarkably reserved about affairs entrusted to him, but association with Mr. Brice, however, gave him an acute attack of loquaciousne The disease did not develop, however, for some time, until Mr. Dedge had accomplished his mission and started on his return trip. He was gone five weeks. Feeling the trouble coming on, he concluded that it would be safest for him to stop off at his old home in Oswego County, where he would be among the friends of his boyhood. He did so. About the first man he met was James Crossley, of Syracuse. To him Mr. Dodge poured forth the story of his Western experence, with all the earnestness and energy of the "Ancient Mariner." Mr. Crossley was forced to listen, and this is what he heard from Mr. Dodge:

and this is what he heard from Mr. Dodge:

In the five weeks that I have been away I have travelled through Ohlo, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, and I am very sorry that I shall have to make a rather discouraging report to the committee, if they want to know the facts. Ohio will surely be Republican. Indiana, I think, will give Harrison a reasonable majority; why, the people there are enthusiastic over him, and there is a general cry for Harrison's election. I do believe that there are places in Indiana where it is dangerous to mention Cleveland's name, but of course there is much enthusiasm for him in the large cities. It will be a close thing in Indiana, but I think they are getting the best of us. Illinois. name, but of course there is much enthusiasm for him in the large cities. It will be a close thing in Indiana, but I think they are getting the best of us. Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan are, I am afraid, pretty certain to go for Harrison. When I was in Illinois I canvassed a train, and the result was 130 votes for Harrison and nineteen for Cleveland. I have been through mills and factories and other places, where I learned that men who were for Cleveland four years ago were now for Harrison, and their attachment for him seems to be pretty strong."

Mr. Grossley ventured to inquire the cause of this apparent stampage from the Democracy. "It is this apparent stampede from the Democracy. "It is this free-trade cry that is doing it all," walled Mr. Dodge,

"The workingmen have got protection on the brain, and seem to be thoroughly convinced that if the Fem-ocratic party wins this election the Mills bill will be-come a law, and the flourishing industries upon which they rely for bread will be stricken down. The work-ing people of the country are thoroughly up in arms. It does not take a very wise man to find that out. I would wager if any one took the trip I did, and if he told the truth, he would tell you substantially the same stoy."

As Mr. Crossley is a truthful man, the Republican emmittee feels justified in accepting his report of what Mr. Dodge said to him.

Furthermore, since the close of the war the dollar of our currency was worth about 40 cents in coin—how did the Republican Government bring it about that for many years gone every dollar of this currency is worth 100 cents? Perhaps by the theories of the Democracy to pay with paper, paper and nothing but paper? Or with the good, honest Republican practice, to pay debts and interests in good, honest money, as promised? JUDGE THURMAN REACHES CHICAGO.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The Chicago escort for Judge Thurman arrived at Port Huron at 1 o'clock this morning and took charge of the party. The Cleveland and Thurman Club of Port Huron, with a band, turned out, and with the Chicago delegation escorted the Judge and party to the train. The private car of General Manager W. J. Spicer, of the Grand Trunk, was provided, and the party were well cared for. The party consisted of Judge Thurman, Allen W. and Lee Thurman, Dr. F. W. Schwartz, of Columbus; Collector C. A. Ward, of Port Huron, and the press representatives. At the start the crowd gave a cheer but there was no speech making.

Crowds of people greeted the party at Lansing, Charlotte and Battle Creek, Mich., and at South Bend, Ind., at each of which places Judge Thurman delivered brief speeches on the tariff.

The train reached Chicago at 6:30. Bands and political clubs, with their music and yelling, added to the clamor made by the thousands of spectators, and amid the racket Judge Thurman was escorted to a carriage and the procession formed, and escorted him to the Palmer House.

CHASING THE ANISE-SEED BAG. A SERIES OF MISHAPS AT THE NEWPORT HUNT.

BUT NOBODY HUBT. Newport, R. I., Aug. 24 (Special).-The fox hunt to-day was one of the most interesting of the season, noticeable for the number of its mishaps. none of which, however, were of a serious nature meet was near the South Portsmouth post-office, in the pretty little churchyard of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. There was a larger crowd than usual of followers in carriages. The throw off was in a field to the west of the road, and a rather small field of riders, about fifteen, including one woman, started on the chase. The scent lay over a rough country, with very stiff walls. Only a short distance from the start the horse of one of the whippers in refused a wall, and a short distance on the other's was badly cut in taking a high stone bound.

This left only the master to care for the hounds and before long he found that he had too much to do. On one of the roads crossed a harmless dog, somewhat resembling a fox in color, attracted the attention of a portion of the pack. The master's will need voice were unable to keep them in, and afterward they went after another small dog. This chase was a short one, and the strange dog was soon dispatched by the hounds. ANOTHER HOT WAVE SAID TO BE APPROACHING. " It is a glorious day," so said every one who had a chance to face the fresh southwest breeze that brought health and pure air to the crowded tenements of the city yesterday. On the sea shore, down the Bay and off Coney Island, salling craft of every description were pressed into the service of able and unable seamen and women, to take advantage of a fair wind and a flowing sea. According to Hudnut's thermometer, the temperature was much higher than on many days of last week, when humidity reigned and perspiring humanity trod the city's pavements. The percentage of humidity was normal, and in consequence no prostrations were reported. Fair and slightly warmer weather is promised for to-day, the warm wave coming fro made an unusually high record, the result of high barometric pressure on the Gulf. At the Signal A NEW SITUATION CREATED; OR AN OLD ONE Service Bureau the official thermometer yesterday registered a maximum of 85 degrees and a min mum of 80 degrees. It is probable that for a week, beginning with to-day, it will not show such moderation, and New-York, with a large portion of the Eastern States, will be reminded that summer is not yet over.

A PRESIDENTIAL ACROBAT.

CLEVELAND'S NEW FISHERY POLICY.

CAN SUCH A FLOPPER BE TRUSTED WITH POWER!

From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.) From The Boston Advertiser (Rep.)

All Washington opened its eyes yesterday on seeing the dexterity and audacity with which that President shifted his position on the fisheries question From one extreme the Administration seems to have rushed to the other, and forced aside from giving away to Caunda the rights that belong to us, he traverses the middle ground with a leap and asks for the widest authority. We think the Senate will hesitate some time, in spite of Mr. Cleveland's extraordinary request, and in spite of the formulated bill which he has put forward in the House. There will be reason and justice in inquiring into his reasoning as to the power conferred on him by the Senate bill for retakation, and still more in considering whether he was not seriously at fault in employing these very means before.

IMPRUDENTLY STEALING REPUBLICAN THUN-DER

From The Philadelphia Press (Rep.) From The Philadelphia Press (Rep.)

President Clevoland has gone back in the message he sent Congress yesterday at a bound, we might say a somersault, to the stand on the fisheries question taken by secretary Manning, which both parties in Congress and a part of the Administration held until Mr. Manning retired, and which is and was the only sound National position.

President Cleveland turns his back on the policy of his Administration; accepts, with a few natural tears and a few weak pleas, the condemnation passed upon the Bayard-Chamberian treaty and adopts the plan, the policy and the practice upon which the Republican party has long insisted.

THE PRESIDENT LEARNS SOMETHING AT LAST.

From The New-Yorp Sun (Dem.) The lisheries treaty was a surrender to Canada, and the Senate justly rejected it. Mr. Cleveland has found out his mistake, and he now proposes to make amends for it.

It is true that Mr. Cleveland has not seen fit to enforce the measure of retailation against Canada put at his disposal by Congress in 1657; but it is fair to suppose that he now undertands the importance of the subject and means business.

IT'S A POOR RULE THAT WON'T WORK BOTH

From The New York World (Dem.) The Canucks are naturally somewhat staggered by President Cleveland's bombshell. John Bull is inclined to grow! also, but the medicine is good, and it will have to be taken. . . Canadians cannot object to the application of the same rules which they apply in their commercial intercourse with us.

MAKING THE BEST OF A DEFEAT.

From The New-York Press (Rep.) A condition confronted Mr. Cleveland on Tuesday, not a theory. The condition was the rejection of the Bayard-Chamberlain fisheries treaty by the Senate. It was a stunning slap in the Presidential face in the middle of the campaign. The Presidential face tingled. The Presidential great head reflected that it could not afford to fall; at least, not to fall entirely. So the head evolved a message.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE IS SAUCE FOR THE GANDER.

From The Commercial Advertises. (Dem.) The suggestion (of retallation) commends itself at once as one looking to a remedy which shall consist in enforcing against them a rule which our neighbors enforce against us.

CANADA THINKS IT IS POLITICAL CLAPTRAP. From The Toronto Globe.

It is one of the points of superiority of our political system over that of our neighbors that our Chief Magistrate is not every four years under the necessity of "playing to the gallery." President Cleveland passes for a man of solid common sense, but in his message he descends to what is plainly electioneering clap-trap, designed to outbid the Blaine-Harrison combination for the anti-British vote.

YET SHE IS A TRIFLE ANXIOUS ABOUT IL From The Toronto Mail. We are free to admit that the step Mr. Cleveland advises Congress to take would be a grave one for us.

TRYING TO SHIRK RESPONSIBILITY. From The Utica Herald (Rep.) From The Utica Herald (Rep.)

The President now, after admitting that our fishermen have been continually ill-treated by Canada, seeks to shift a responsibility that has been his for eighteen months. He asks Congress for power which he already has.

The whole message is in brief a combination of bluster, apology and shirking. Even if the legislative action he recommends were not necessary, the President knows that it is too late in the session for a comprehensive and just retaillation measure to be passed.

TALKING IN AN UNFAMILIAR TONE.

From The Hartford Courant (Rep.)

Toward the close of his message, he really expresses himself quite like an American. For that agreeable novelty the country may hank the Republican Senate and the Republican newspapers.

from the standpoint of campaign strategy, he thraway the opportunity which Congress had placed his grasp, and cannot now make capital by ask for larger powers than the law contemplated.

EVASIVELY PICKING FLAWS TO ESCAPE DUTY. From The Albany Express. (Rep.)

He does not make it clear that any additional legislation is necessary. The general understanding of the law of 1887 is that it confers upon the President the power to suspend the operation of statutes in enforcing retailation against Canada. The real purpose of the message would seem to be, not that which it declares, but rather to put upon Congress the onus of the immediate inauguration of retailation it was believed, when the retailatory act was passed, that it covered the whole ground. We should like to see the President go ahead, enforce the law, and not search for flaws in it, until experience proves their existence, from The Albany Express. (Rep.)

JOHN BULL RUMINATES OVER 17. From The St. James's Gazette (London).

Not only local affairs are concerned, but imperial interests are also involved. Engiand must and will supply proper safeguards for her canadian interests. YES: BUT WHO ASSAULTED YANKEE FISHERMEN From The London Globe.

If the Canadians had rejected the treaty, it would be easy to understand why Mr. Cleveland should ask to retailation; but we cannot understand why Mr. Cleve land should punish Canadians for the act of the Amer THE MATTER LOOKS UGLY.

from The London Star (T. P. O'Connor's paper). We have no fear of a war over toe matter, but serious CANADA MAKES A POINT ON CLEVELAND.

From The Montreal Herald. The excuse which the President makes for asking for authority which will enable him to be effective in his retaliation seems to be a far-fetched one. A retaliation act was passed when privileges were denied to United States fishermen which are now given by the modus vivendi.

NEEDLESS TO WORRY ABOUT THE UNITED STATES. From The Montreal Gazette.

From The Montreal Gazette.

If Congress gives President Cleveland the power he asks and he uses it, the ordinary international trade between the two countries will not be at all affected, Merchandise and passengers will pass to and fro as at present. Goods from foreign countries will be carried through Canada to the United States in bond as now. Merchandise will be transported as usual from the Wostern to the Eastern States, and vice versa over Canadian railways. But our winter trade will be put to inconvenience. It will be impossible for any class of goods dutiable under the United States laws to be imported into Canada via Portland, Boston or New-York. On those ports the chief inconvenience will lie. They will be the first to move for a reversal of the enactment.

A NEW SITUATION CREATED; OR AN OLD ONE RECURS.

From The Boston Globe (Dem.)

The rejection of the treaty lately negotiated changes the whole face of the situation, and it is to the new position of affairs that the President courageously addresses himself.

TOO LATE TO RETRIEVE HIS BLUNDER.

From The Baltimore American (Rep.)

When Congress passed the law authorizing the President to begin a system of retallation it placed in his hands a weapon by which the Canadisans could have been readily brought to terms, but Mr. Clevel and considered himself weser than Congress, and used his own judgment in attempting to effect a settlement of the dishcries troubles.
